ABOUT VCX

VCX, “the home of the classics” was founded in the early 60s by Norm Arno, uncle of current President, David Sutton. “In the beginning, magazines and 8mm ‘stag’ films were the only adult materials available. It would have been instant incarceration if anyone would have put out an adult feature and tried to exhibit in a public theater.”

In 1969, the filming of “Deep Throat” and its later public showing in several movie theaters around the country, followed closely by the release of “The Devil in Miss Jones” forever changed the business. VCX became known as an adult feature film company and was the studio associated with most of the films seen during the next 15 years. In the late 70s, with the advent of video-tape for home use, VCX was the first to put its films onto tape for sale to private individuals. “A full two years before any mainstream company did so, VCX was selling and renting its features on VHS and Beta in the theaters where they were displayed, as well as XXX retail outlets around the country, and eventually, the world.”

In the mid 80’s, my Father, Rudy Sutton took over the company, nursing it back to prominence, and restoring the “Classics” to their former popularity. In a move not unlike that of Ted Turners’ purchase of the entire movie catalogues of several movie studios, the elder Sutton did likewise to secure rights to hundreds of the most popular adult titles of all time. Now, approaching its sixth decade in continuous operation, VCX has unquestionably the finest library of adult classics anywhere. With blockbusters such as “Debbie Does Dallas”, “The Devil in Miss Jones”, “Sex World”, “Anytime, Any Place” and “Tribute to the King”, the last the final production that John Holmes was associated with, VCX has cemented it’s place in the annals of adult history, without question “The Home of the Classics”

David Sutton, now at the helm of the Vegas firm, is also the sponsor of the Skydive of the Sin City Chamber of Commerce benefit for the Corps of Compassion. As such, he will be taking the plunge on Saturday, May 18th, and he is asking for sponsors to donate as much as they can for this vital cause. “Ten, Twenty, One Hundred, Five Hundred...it all adds up and will be benefiting a great cause. Just email david@vcx.com and let me know how much you’re in for. Checks should be made payable to “Corps of Compassion”
